

Nova Leadership Immersions are at the intersection of:

- ★ Strengthening your company’s leadership pipeline,
- ★ Providing individualized development focus, and
- ★ Creating better business outcomes.

Research guides the investment

- One million women are missing from the labor force compared to pre-pandemic.
- Investing in developmental experiences is a primary way to retain talented women leaders.
- Companies with more women executives are more profitable, inclusive, and resilient.
- Effectively planned time away cultivates a more positive approach to work and increases engagement.

Here’s what we’ve heard:

"I loved so much about this experience! The location, the events and the company were all incredible. The ability to spend time with exclusively women leaders was probably the most special to me. It's so rare in a world where all of my peers and leaders tend to be men."

"The Immersion experience completely took me out of my 'real life' in exactly the way I needed it to, at exactly the right time. I have taken away a new sense of purpose, and more energy and positivity to approach what's next."
